Carlos, I still believe outdated and incorrect information should always be immediately purged from all EPA.gov databases as a matter of process.

The owner of this chart or its replacement should be held accountable for removing the supeceded content on the site. This is standard operating procedure for any competently-run business; EPA should be held to standards at least as rigorous as those compelled upon the private sector by the need to maintain competitive in a free-market economy.

Please express these sentiments of mine to your EPA.gov management contact.

Thanks again for your attention Carlos.

Curt

Curt,

I went directly to the Region 6 web site and I saw that the information is up to date. Maybe googled is still showing an old chart. The date on the org chart that you sent was June 2012. Use the following link to get the latest information. CAS
